

Liana Toumazou

Liana is a senior facilitator and researcher with an uncanny ability to project an uplifting feel-good-factor in her workshops. She strongly believes that knowledge and development come more effectively through enjoyment and well-being.

Liana joined Performa in 2005 and is a certified Leader for The Art of Innovation Workshop. She also manages the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors presence in Cyprus and Greece.

Liana has extensive international experience with manufacturing SMEs and the service industry in strategic planning and promoting non-profit organisations. She was Partner and Marketing Director of P.M. Toumazos (Clothing Industry) Ltd and later a Site Project Manager for an Events Organizing company.

She holds a BA in French and Comparative Literature from Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, an MBA from CIIM (Cyprus International Institute of Management) and graduate training certificates from Philips College (Marketing), Fashion Institute of Technology, NY (Textiles Technology) and CBI Netherlands (Export Marketing).

She has taken numerous courses in creativity, coaching and positive psychology. She trained as a coach at Corporate Coach International with Ros Taylor who was named one of the UK's top ten coaches, and at Thiagi Group (USA) in Coaching for Performance.

Liana is warm, engaging with strong analytical skills and unique insights.

Her relentless energy is contagious and captivating, passionately promoting creativity and assisting organizations become more innovative.

She loves yoga, dance, rock climbing, sailing and detective novels and is fluent in Greek, English and operational in French.